

Fumigation Protection for Imports and Exports

Goods imported to or exported from the U.S. face complex pest management requirements. Ecolab has the experienced and licensed experts to navigate and meet the unique requirements of the import and export industry.

Commodity Protection

Whether you are importing or exporting produce, pallets, logs or other commodities, Ecolab has the experience and expertise to preserve their value and quality. We understand the varying conditions that commodities can be subject to and apply the most applicable fumigation technology to ensure protection.

Regulatory Compliance

Whether your commodity is facing the quarantine regulations of imports or the foreign-country requirements of exports, Ecolab is fully registered, expertly trained, and uniquely experienced to provide compliant, effective fumigation.

Value Preservation

Protecting the value and quality of your imports or exports is of utmost concern to you – and to us. With our science-based fumigation methodologies, you can trust us with your product – from ship to market.
